

'License to Give' After d'Arc Gala

There was a sea of red-carpet-worthy gowns at the "License to Give" After d'Arc Gala. But Lisa Layne, 50, won the night with a stunning floor-length, sparkling, silver halter gown.

"I saw it and said 'That's it,'" shared the Havre de Grace resident, who is the general sales manager for WXCY103.7 FM.

The charismatic Layne was a natural as she sparkled while showcasing her party ensemble.

"I'm wearing 5-inch heels," she said, beaming, as she posed for her photo.

"And I have three grandchildren," she shared as she showed off her sparkling accessories.

The ensemble was worthy of Bond girl distinction.

HER ENSEMBLE: Sparkling, floor-length gown by Adrianna Papell, which she purchased at White House Black Market.

Her heels and earrings were also from White House Black Market. Her cuff was from Ann Taylor. Her shimmering satin clutch was from a boutique called The Apple Tree in Stroudsburg, Pa.

john-john.williams@baltsun.com
twitter.com/popcouturejjw4

Lisa Layne attended the 14th annual After d'Arc Gala's "License To Give" party, held at the Maryland Golf and Country Club.

BARBARA HADDOCK TAYLOR/BALTIMORE SUN PHOTOS

BARBARA HADDOCK TAYLOR/BALTIMORE SUN PHOTOS

With guests wearing tailored suits, opulent gowns and sparkling cocktail dresses, the "James Bond" theme of the 14th annual "License to Give" After d'Arc Gala was in full swing.

Four hundred people attended the $150-a-ticket event at the Maryland Golf & Country Club in Bel Air. In addition to a VIP reception for top sponsors, the event, which was decorated with gentle nods to the long-running action-adventure series, included food, silent and live auctions, and dancing with music from The Klassix.

The event netted $133,000 for services to individuals with differing abilities in Harford County.

john-john.williams@baltsun.com

twitter.com/popcouturejjw4

Among those attending were: 1. Elizabeth Cox, Bernie Cox, Richard Holman; 2. Elizabeth Holmes, Kristine Downing, Peter Ricker, Beth Staten; 3. Allan Nelson, Dianna Nelson, Amanda Tyson, Jeff Parsons; 4. Dennis Nevin, Jay Edwards, Joe Gray; 5. Stephanie Dinsmore, Neil Crumbacker, Shelly Crumbacker, Dave Dinsmore; 6. Sandi Linkous, Steve Linkous, Shawn Kros; 7. Susan Kemen, Chuck Kelly, Jeff Rink; 8. Jeanne Beaman, Christina Eitani, Jamie Stoner; 9. Lynn Wilkinson, Meghan Hoffman, Garret Garbarino, Sara Garbarino; 10. Beth Bayer, Tony Bayer, Susan Stover, Alicia Figueroa; 11. Brad Stover, Stacie Stover; 12. Bill Bocek, Sandy Bocek, Matt Mullen, Katie Mullen.